The screenshot displays a Zoom mobile application interface during a video lecture. The top status bar shows the time as 12:04 and 12:08 PM, along with network and battery icons. The main screen is divided into two sections: a video feed and a presentation slide.

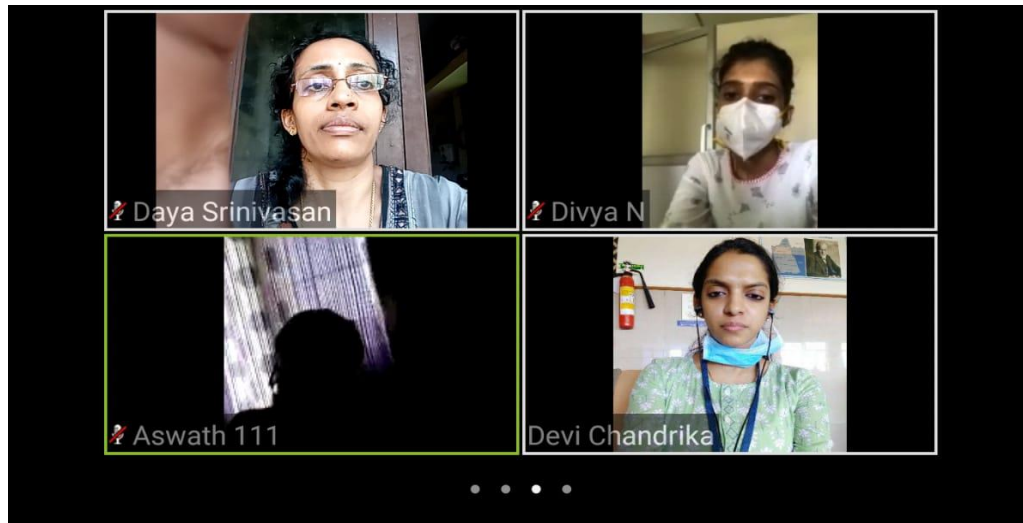

Video Feed: The top half of the screen shows a video feed of a participant, Devi Chandrika, who is wearing a blue surgical mask and a green patterned shirt. The bottom half of the video feed area shows a small thumbnail of the same participant, labeled "Devi Chandrika's screen".

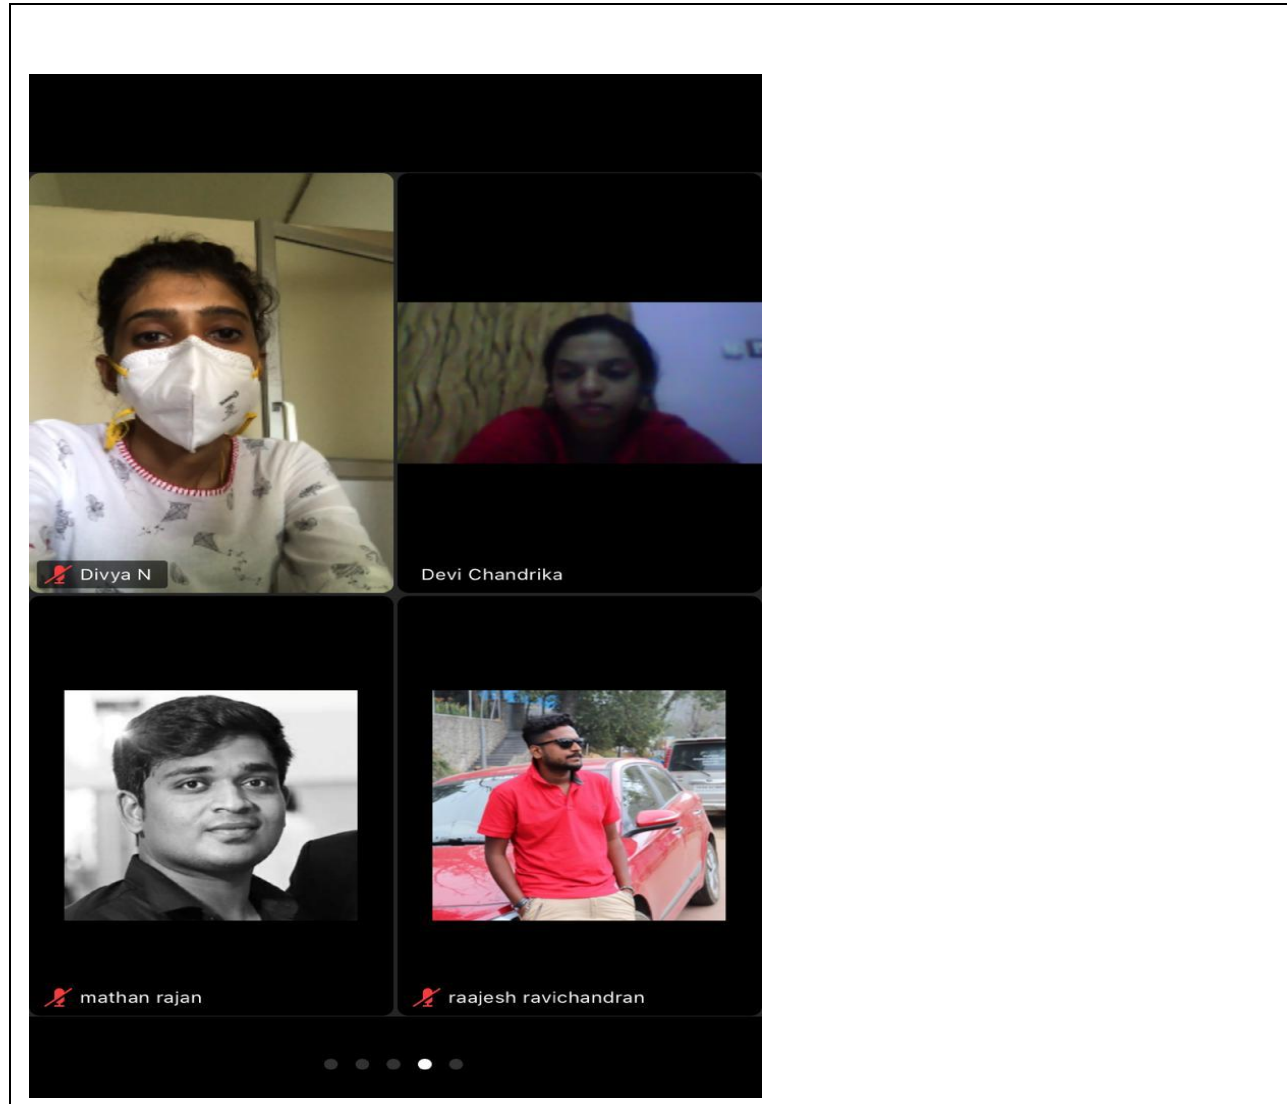

Presentation Slide: The slide is titled "Introduction - Pulp" and features the Chettinad Dental College & Research Institute logo. The content includes:

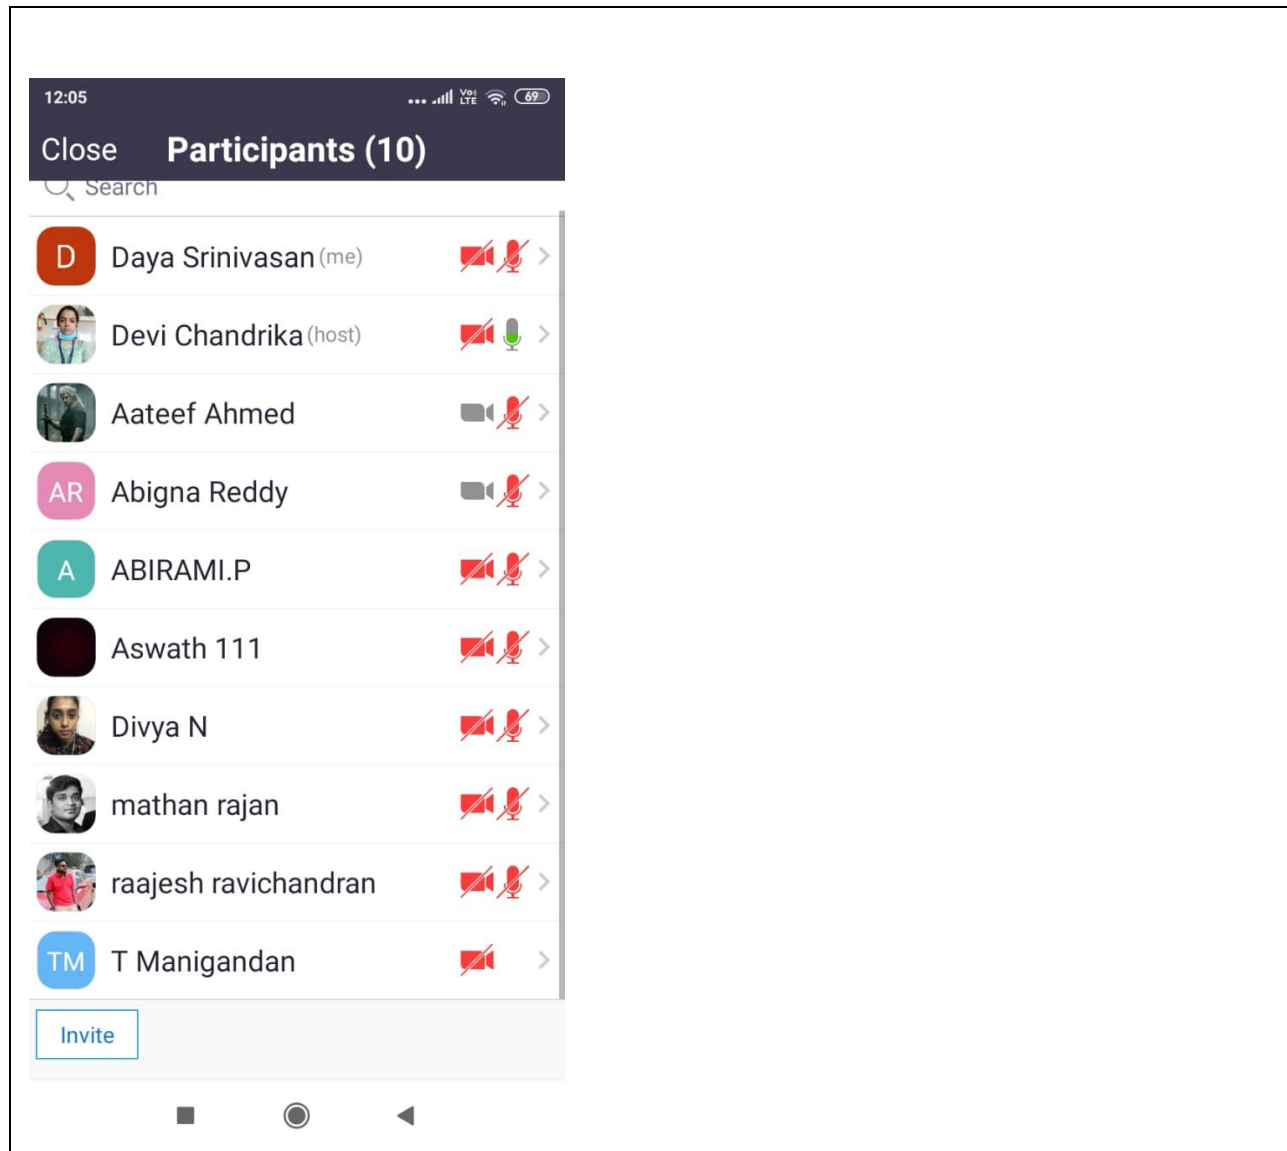

- The dental pulp is the most vital part in the center of the tooth made up of living connective tissues, blood vessels, nerves and cells called odontoblasts.
- The vitality of the dental pulp complex, both during healthy and after injury depends on pulp cell activity and the signaling process that regulates the cell's behaviour.
- Functions – Nutritive, Sensory, Protective, Formative

The slide also includes diagrams illustrating the types of open apices (Based on apex shape) and the difference between Non-Blunderbuss and Blunderbuss apices. The Non-Blunderbuss diagram shows a broad (cylinder shaped) apex, while the Blunderbuss diagram shows a funnel shaped apex that is typically wider than the coronal aspect of the canal.

The bottom of the screen displays the Zoom mobile app navigation bar with icons for Unmute, Stop Video, Share Content, Participants, and More.
